

Family Devotion #10
For the Week Of October 15, 2017

Dearly beloved, tis the season! Lots of people want to know, what is the biblical perspective on Halloween? There is a good article at www.gotquestions.org entitled Should Christians Celebrate Halloween? Please take time to look over the article with your family and with much prayer and Scripture as your guide make the right decision for yourself and your family as the Holy Spirit leads you regarding this subject.

Also, inquiring minds want to know what the Bible says about demonic activity today. There is so much about it in media and movies today, what does God say about this? Again, go to www.gotquestions.org and look up the article, Is there activity of demonic spirits in the world today?

As the world bombards our culture with so much evil, each Christian must stand ready with biblical answers for those who are confused about current issues of the day. I. Peter 3:15.
